

Bari Wien is a Vice President on the Renewable Energy and Environmental Finance (REEF) team at Wells Fargo and has over 10 years of experience in the renewables industry. She has been with Wells Fargo since 2014, where she works on the structuring and diligence of tax equity investments for renewables and other clean technology projects. Prior to Wells Fargo, Bari worked in business development for Yingli Solar. She holds a BA from Dartmouth College and an MBA from the Haas School of Business at U.C. Berkeley.